Welcome!

Welcome to the Ezra Schwartz Memorial Baseball Tournament. This tournament is especially important to us and the entire Sharon community as a way to memorialize Ezra.

Ezra played little league in Sharon since he was 5 years old, eventually playing Junior Varsity and Varsity for Maimonides School. Ezra and our four other children, ranging in age from 12 to 22, have played for years at the Sharon and Maimonides baseball fields, each of them passionate and talented baseball or softball players in their own right.

Maimonides Baseball was everything to Ezra. He loved it! He worked hard, played hard and he led by example. Ezra supported his teammates and he took pride in their accomplishments. He wanted everyone to play hard but also to love the game.

In Sept 2015, Ezra went to Israel for his gap year between high school and college.

On November 19th, 2015, he was killed by a Palestinian terrorist in a drive-by shooting on his way to a nature preserve near the Gush Etzion Junction. He was on his way to do volunteer work in memory of the three boys, Gil-ad, Naftali and Eyal, who were kidnapped and killed in June of 2104. Ezra was 18 years old.

By sponsoring a baseball tournament weekend, we want to honor Ezra's passion for baseball and create a fun environment in which to remember Ezra.

Our community in Sharon is so excited to welcome the Maimonides varsity baseball players as well as the varsity baseball teams from YULA, Frisch and Flatbush high schools to participate in our tournament weekend.

We are so glad you are here.

Ruth and Ari Schwartz

ABOUT SHARON, MASSACHUSETTS

Sharon is a beautiful suburban community in a natural setting, halfway between Boston and Providence. In 2013, it was rated by Money Magazine as the #1 small town in America, in its list of “places with great jobs, strong economies, affordable homes, excellent schools, and that special something that makes it a great place to live.” Many of the 18,000 town residents have second- and third-generation family roots in Sharon, but the town is also notable for its diversity and openness to newcomers.

Incorporated in 1765, Sharon has a long and unique history. Beginning as a small farming community, Sharon soon thereafter transitioned to a mill town, with its many waterways providing the power. During the American Revolution, in fact, the townspeople of Sharon made cannonballs and cannons for the Continental Army at a local foundry. In the early to mid-1900s, many Jewish families from Boston vacationed in Sharon during the summer. Sharon continues its tradition of being a family-friendly town, and is home to seven synagogues, an eruv and a mikvah.

The vacation-like setting has continued to this day. Sharon’s motto, “A better place to live, because it’s naturally beautiful,” was coined because of the town’s picturesque surroundings and outdoor recreational opportunities, such as hiking, biking and bird-watching. The town’s centerpiece gem - the 353-acre, spring-fed Lake Massapoag - is a magnet for swimming, boating, fishing, sailing, camps and summer concerts.

Friends,

On behalf the Young Israel of Sharon and the entire Sharon community, we are excited to welcome you to the second annual Ezra Schwartz Memorial Baseball tournament! We can’t wait to ‘play ball’ and enjoy some classic spring time fun on the field.

Our dear Ezra z’tkl loved the game of baseball. Baseball is a thing of beauty, especially here in Boston. When the temperatures begin to climb and the sun hangs in the sky a little longer, almost every kid, little or big, takes out their glove, puts it on, punches it in and tosses up a ball into the air to catch it. This is the classic spring time ritual that transports kids to dream forward about playing in the majors and transports adults to dream backwards about playing ball in little league or in high school.

Baseball slows life down and makes it more enjoyable. We put down our devices and enjoy each other’s company, with some healthy competition in the mix. Friendships are formed sitting on the bench or in the stands. Memories are made through dramatic plays and unexpected come backs.

The culture of baseball, as described above, is one that embraces the goodness that our dear Ezra brought to our lives. Ezra generated wholesome fun, appreciated good competition, and was a great friend.

This year the tournament will take place a few days after the 70th commemoration of Yom HaZikaron and the 70th celebration Yom Ha-Atzmaut. These two days—one gloomy and the other festive—come together as a package because that is the Jewish way of making meaning out of our checkered past. It is a dual mindset, in which we cry over the absence of people we love and then in the very next moment appreciate and even celebrate the good that they brought to our lives.

It is therefore befitting that we will be hosting the second annual ESMBT during this time of the Jewish calendar, as we will be spending our time together sharing stories about Ezra and how much we miss him, and then moments later having fun, by celebrating and doing the kind of things that he loved to do.

May we continue to be inspired by the goodness that Ezra brought to our world.

With blessings,
Rabbi Noah Cheses
Young Israel of Sharon

It is with great pride I welcome you to the second Ezra Schwartz Baseball Tournament. What better way to honor and celebrate Ezra's memory than to bring people together and play his favorite sport. And how appropriate that this tournament is the week before the combined parshas of Acharei Mot-Kedoshim. We truly find ourselves in a time after the passing of a kadosh and it is our job to continue his legacy. Our own Yechiel Ezra taught us how to love life, how to play hard, how to focus on that which really matters, and how to live for others. This weekend we bring Ezra's lessons to life by living and playing by his play book.

I keep a picture of Ezra on my desk and it reminds me of him every day. But that is not the only time I think of him. I think of him when I see the baseball team run by my window, when I see an older student playing with a younger one. I think of him when my son Binny wears Ezra's Thomas the Train kippa and I think of him when my friends name their children after him. I see him in his siblings and I see him in our student athletes who earn the Ezra Schwartz Mentorship award. And with this tournament we honor his memory and continue his legacy. May his memory continue to be a blessing and always push us to make the most out of life.

*Rabbi Dov Huff
Limudei Kodesh Principal
Maimonides School*

It is an honor for me to offer humble greetings as you take part in this year's Ezra Schwartz Baseball Tournament. As I knew Ezra, there is no better way to mark his legacy than a gathering of young, Jewish men from around the country in spirited baseball competition. This sport that Ezra loved so much typifies the spirit he embodied...

Whether to his siblings, his parents, his friends and schoolmates, or his coaches and teachers, Ezra gave everyone many reasons to cheer on his field of dreams. Now it is to us to sustain his dreams through this wonderful tournament in his memory. Just as it was for us in watching Ezra play, it is impossible for us to participate in this tournament as a player, coach, or spectator from any school, without bringing more of his spirit to the game. He would want nothing less from us than to make the most out of our lives as individuals, as teammates, and as a broad, extended family together. In honor of Ezra, "Play Ball!"

Special thanks to Coach Josh Prybyla for helping to make this tournament a reality, and for caring about our boys...and Ezra z"l

We're very excited to be hosting the varsity baseball teams of such three great schools: The Frisch School, the Yeshiva of Flatbush, and the Yeshiva University High Schools of Los Angeles. Our purpose in coming together over this tournament and Shabbaton is to honor the life and legacy of Ezra Schwartz through baseball, a sport that inspired Ezra to work and achieve his very best.

I met Ezra on his first day of school in the 7th grade. He had a crowd of students around him as he was recalling stories from the summer, telling jokes and entertaining everyone in his vicinity. Many who knew Ezra probably have a similar recollection of their first encounter with him. People loved Ezra and Ezra loved the company of people. That's one of the reasons why sports were so meaningful for Ezra; competitive athletics gave him the opportunity to lead, mentor and bond with his classmates. Baseball was Ezra's passion and the baseball field was a sacred place for him. Ezra wanted his teammates to hold baseball with the same reverence as he did. It was particularly gratifying for me to see Ezra develop a deep sense of respect for his coaches, all of whom were true role-models for him.

Our varsity baseball head coach, Josh Prybyla, shared Ezra's passion for baseball, respect for the game, and high expectations for those who wore the Maimonides M-Cat uniform. Their bond had a profound impact on Ezra's growth into adulthood, and it is altogether fitting that Coach Prybyla lead our team in this second Ezra Schwartz Memorial Baseball Tournament, an event to honor Ezra's indelible spirit.

Thank you to everyone who has played a role in making this meaningful event come together. I particularly want to acknowledge the vision, dedication and hard work of Ruth and Ari Schwartz, who understood that a community baseball tournament involving Jewish Day Schools would truly be the enduring honor to our leader, friend, teammate and brother, Ezra Schwartz.

*Hal Borkow
Maimonides Athletics Director*

The Ezra Schwartz Memorial Baseball Tournament (“ESMBT”) hosted by Maimonides School is in remembrance of, and to honor, one of the best players I have had the opportunity to coach for the Maimo baseball program.

Ezra approached each and every practice and game with a relentless, gracious, driven and fearless mentality. Ezra played the game with a unique tenacity that resembled a controlled reckless abandon, and that is why I loved watching him play the game he loved so much. Ezra knew what to do in every situation, whether it be at the plate, in the outfield, at shortstop, or on the mound. In each of these situations, he always gave his teammates and our coaches everything he had to help us win a game or get better at practice.

Ezra was a key contributor to the growth and culture of the Maimo baseball program, and we as a team approach every day with the same mentality in which Ezra played the game.

I had the great opportunity of being Ezra’s coach for four years and as described above, you can tell he was a great baseball player. But Ezra was much more than just a great baseball player and someone I was privileged to coach; he was a phenomenal young man with so many great characteristics and attributes that I am more honored to have called him my friend.

Ezra and I shared many conversations over our time together, mostly about baseball, but also about life in general. Ezra was most passionate about three things in life: baseball, his family/friends, and his camp that he attended every summer. The one common theme to all three is that Ezra was unselfish and always put others first, which is one of his characteristics I admired most. Ezra felt more joy in seeing others succeed, whether it be his teammates, his siblings, or his campers. He took a greater sense of satisfaction in knowing that he contributed to other’s success and happiness, rather than focusing on his own. I miss Ezra every day and a part of me still hopes I will see him at a practice or game someday, or receive a call from him to catch up like we used to so many times in the past. Even though that will never be the case, I honor Ezra by approaching every aspect of my life with the same unselfishness and tenacity that Ezra approached life and the game of baseball so enthusiastically.

This is the second consecutive year Maimonides has hosted the ESMBT. The inaugural ESMBT exceeded all expectations due to the high level of competitive play and the phenomenal sportsmanship displayed by all teams. I look forward to this year's ESMBT to again surpass all expectations. Ezra would be honored to know that we are continuing this tradition and all participating in a baseball tournament in his memory. I know the only request Ezra would have, and it is the same one I have, is the following: exemplify good sportsmanship, play like champions, leave everything you have on the field, and support your teammates and the other teams in the tournament. On behalf of Ezra and the Maimonides baseball program, I thank you all for participating in this amazing event and here is to another great ESMBT weekend.
